Suspension of Studies

International students who are on a student visa must notify the university if they make any changes to their enrolment. This is to ensure that the Department of Home Affairs is correctly advised of your circumstance.

Suspension of Studies
Students holding a student visa can temporarily suspend their studies in certain limited circumstances (compelling or compassionate), during the course through a formal agreement.

Compassionate or Compelling circumstances include:
- Serious illness or injury (you will need a medical certificate stating that you are unable to attend classes for a substantial amount of time must be provided).
- Bereavement of close family members such as parents or grandparents (supporting documentation must be provided).
- Major political upheaval or natural disaster in home country requiring emergency travel and this has impacted on your studies.
- A traumatic experience - for example involvement in or witnessing a serious crime or accident which has impacted you (documentary evidence such as a police report for the event must be provided).
- No units available for you to study for one Study Period (letter from academic department must be provided).

A suspension of studies is only able to be granted for one study period (session or term) only.

To apply, visit: https://ask.mq.edu.au/account/forms/display/suspend_studies

Department of Home Affairs
It is recommended you speak with the Department of Home Affairs about how a break from studies will impact your student visa:
  P: 131 881